

Why enter into ventures with other software organisations when you can have your own solution to enhance your potential client base and bring in extra income in a passive manner?"

AIMS Consulting is proud to launch, a redefined, recompiled, extremely advanced Business Management Software Package

Our vision for cooperation:

We are looking for Premium Partner's, Premium Agents or General Agents that are connected to industries that require improved business concepts. Our partners and agents will have the rights to sell a solution in their particular market with your company's name and logo displayed on the application. We can be actively involved in helping our partners with detailed presentations or demos, specialised development, training and technical assistance.

Our recurring payment model allows us to share our revenue with our partners for the lifetime of the client.

What additional benefits are in it for you?

Organisations that partner with Aims Consulting eliminate substantial software design and development effort and cost and are able to focus on their core competencies. These companies gain competitive advantage in their markets from lower development costs and quicker time-to-market, increased service efficiency to their client base and increased sales potential.

For a complete solution provider AIMS have in place,

Flag I.T is an advanced offering where we have several web enabled and mobile applications that plug into Flag Forms. Flag I.T includes AIMS consulting assisting clients with design, implementation, integration, data configuration, consulting, project management, training and on-going services.

AIMS Consulting is a newly formed organisation but by no means are we new to the market in solution offering. In fact we currently have over 25 years experience in this industry.

In order to offer a sound solution we have formed this new company so that we may specialise in bringing to our partners and agents the best functional solutions for your clientele.
